Forget spending your weekends on ladders, chasing contractors, or wondering what expensive surprise your house has planned next. This beautifully maintained home lets you retire from home projects, too. Recently painted inside and out, loaded with upgrades (see Documents for the full list), this move in ready retreat offers spectacular mountain views and a lifestyle built around enjoyment not upkeep. Pour your coffee, watch the sunrise over the mountains, and spend your day doing whatever you want instead of whatever your house demands. Spacious, comfortable, and meticulously cared for, this is the kind of home that makes simplifying life feel like an upgrade. Less maintenance. More freedom. Better views. That's a deal worth making.
